Judge W. L. McGeary made a long address, in which he evolved his theory as to the real live lesse of the campaign, and insisted upon locuments being sent out to make out the locuments being sent out to make out the idenderable case. He hold that the present election laws were thoroughly meconstitutional, the nilevel authority for them being really a chaire providing for a possible failure of the states to make any laws governing the election of senators or representatives in congress. The republicans had in the last worth years virtually whose dout state lines and deprived the country of a constitutional republican form of government, and if that party should obtain control of the executive and both branches of the maional legislature then the law would be put into thil force, as it would have been had Grant been elected to a finite term. The only way to save the country, he said, was for the democrats to elect the whose telest—president, senate, and house of representatives. The address was received

To the Elitor.

Washington, D. C., Augi 14, 1884.—I see by a dispatch to the New York San of this date that I am announced as a prominent botter from Blaine and a member of a Butler Liberty club. I know of no such organization. In cominon with a number of other gentlemen I assisted in forming an organization under a call for those indorsing the following platform: "Equal rights, equal burdens, equal powers and equal privileges for all persons under the law." The organization thus formed has as yet adopted no name. When it does I think I am safe in predicting that it will not be "Butler Liberty club." I am still in the ranks for Blaine and Logan.

A LIBERAL CAMP LEADER.

WASHINGTON GROVE, MONTGOMERY COUNTY, Mrs., Aug. 14.—Presiding Elder Deale, who is in charge of the Methodist camp which opened here to-day, believes in a government by love. He recognizes that a great many come to a camp meeting for the sake of physical health and social intercourse, and is satisfied to reach that class as well as he can without making them feet uncomfortable by scalding or complaining about all of the religious services not being fully attended. The old-fashioned camp meeting is a thing of the past, and the mostern institution has to be accepted for what it is and the nest made of it. The old-fashioned people still remain and add forvor to the vx-ervises, and very soul refreshing it is to witness their zeal in the cause. The lukewarm are always more or less affected by the prevailing techniq and this is what marks the needing a success. Much good is predicted for this gathering, doubtless with some formulation. here to-day, believes in a government by love
